Toulouse Capitole University

7 members united by a common ambition

Toulouse Capitole University is one of the oldest universities in the world. With nearly 800 years of knowledge, its scientific excellence allows it to offer degrees that are recognized as among the best in France and Europe.

Toulouse Capitole University has, in the heart of Toulouse, a campus spread across four sites steeped in history, and extends into the Occitanie region to the well-balanced university towns of Rodez and Montauban.

It has 21,500 students and nearly 1,500 staff, including lecturers, researchers, lecturer-researchers, library staff, engineers, administrative staff, technicians, and social and healthcare workers.

The university is very active within the European university alliance ENGAGE.EU alongside nine other European universities and having concluded more than 300 cooperation agreements with partners around the world.

Preparing for the challenges ahead

Toulouse Capitole University offers more than 350 national degrees, university degrees, preparatory courses for competitive exams, and certifications, thereby providing graduates with an undeniable competitive advantage.

Committed to equal opportunity, the institution offers programs for students in traditional on-campus programs, as well as work-study and distance learning programs, and provides tailored pathways for each student. It also promotes educational innovation to best meet the needs of the socio-economic world.

Involved in society, Toulouse Capitole University contributes to lifelong learning. Through its digital university and executive education, it intends to offer programmes to professionals outside Toulouse, especially international ones, the possibility of benefiting from the know-how of its teachers, researchers and lecturer-researchers.

Inclusive, Toulouse Capitole University has created a "solidarity grocery store" with the Food Bank, which is open to all students in Occitania, and is developing quality talent preparation programs that allow deserving students with scholarships and job seekers to succeed in competitive exams for senior civil service positions. It allows students and staff facing health or disability difficulties, visible or invisible, to be instructed and professionally and socially integrated, thanks to competent actors, to listening and to the accessibility of services.

Enlightening society and decision-makers

Engaging with current societal challenges and anticipating those to come, Toulouse Capitole University analyses, researches and examines concepts, by mobilising all its disciplines: law, economics, management, political science, as well as public administration, information and communication, mathematics, computer science and languages.

Its seven research units bring together more than 770 lecturers and researchers, who publish in the most prestigious journals, both national and international, organise several hundred symposia and conferences each year, and maintain a thriving doctoral programme.

Building on its collective emulation, Toulouse Capitole University conducts high-quality scientific research with national, European and industrial funding. Each year, it welcomes numerous visitors and visiting professors to foster the development of disciplinary, interdisciplinary, cross-scientific and international knowledge. The latest evidence of this dynamic is the creation of the International Research for Society Institute (IRSI) at Toulouse Capitole University. This quality research is intended to be a beacon for the socio-economic world.

Being an active part of the local community & on-campus

Toulouse Capitole University is evolving with the support of its alumni and partners. To further strengthen these ties, a partnership foundation has just been established.

Toulouse Capitole University is one of the cornerstones of the region, also because of its emblematic building. It is one of the few French universities to have benefited from the devolution of its real estate. It offers everyone an exceptional living environment in Toulouse, Montauban and Rodez, combining history and modernity: renowned amphitheatres, emblematic libraries, gardens and cloister, connected classrooms, gymnasiums in the city center.

Major projects illustrate the university's ambition in the field of real estate: energy-efficient renovations and the construction of modern buildings in the city centre that meet environmental standards.

Toulouse Capitole University is thus a key player in its local area and aims to become a leading institution in research and education across Europe.
